

Rollins Game Dev Club Constitution

ARTICLE I. NAME

This organization shall be named Rollins Game Dev Club, henceforth referred to as RGD.

ARTICLE II. PURPOSE

To provide a forum and place to collaborate for those interested in video game development. From beginners to enthusiasts, this club will provide a space to practice and learn video game development skills, collaborate in a real-time team setting, and produce portfolio-ready projects. In addition, members will learn about the history, practices, and applications of game development.

This club will foster a wide set of skills for everyone interested in video game development: from those inclined to programming, music, art, writing, and design. People of any skill set and level are welcome if they are willing to collaborate and learn.

ARTICLE III. MEMBERSHIP

Any student at Rollins College may become a member. Membership requires attendance of at minimum one meeting a semester. Active members participate enthusiastically in group projects and team collaboration.

Members can become officers if they contribute notable time towards the club. There will be no fees associated with participating in this club.

ARTICLE IV. MEETINGS AND EVENTS

Meetings will be hosted twice every month, on either Tuesday or Thursday, determined by the officers and current active members of the club. These meetings will be a time for all club members and teams to gather and work on their projects in a shared space, as well as ask questions and seek help if necessary. The Officer Board (described in Article V) will convene at the end of every meeting to transcribe meeting notes for future reference.

- Upon member request, short lectures will be given by officers about certain topics members are interested in learning, or by guest lecturers in areas of specialization.
- Additionally, if interest exists, additional meetings will be hosted in the form of game development style sprints, where participants or teams are given challenge projects to complete or themes to work around within a set time frame. Members can win prizes for winning projects or concepts.

ARTICLE V. TEAM POLICIES

Project teams are an integral part of RGD, as one of the major goals of the club is to enable members to collaborate on real projects in real team environments. We wish to mimic a true production environment as closely as possible, as to provide the best experience for our members, and discord within a team is unfortunately part of reality. This being said, it is also very important to RGD that these teams are safe, encouraging, and equitable to all, and that our members ultimately feel supported and comfortable within their team dynamic.

When team or member disputes arise, it is the responsibility and expectation of affected members to seek resolution in the following order:

1. Discuss the issue amongst the persons involved, and try to arrive at a mutual solution that balances the needs of all parties.
2. Bring the issue to the attention of the Officer Board, and seek a third-party solution.
3. If the previous two steps have been inconclusive, then at the discretion of the Officer Board, the involved persons will be redistributed amongst other teams.

ARTICLE VI. OFFICERS

The Officer Board shall consist of a President and Vice President at all times. In addition, the Officer Board can be composed of additional officers at the discretion of the President and Vice President, but these extra officers are not required.

The duties of the officers are as follows:

- The President will organize and run meetings, plan special project topics, handle the composition of club member teams and any issues that may arise, and will additionally serve as the primary point of contact for the club: through GetInvolved, advisors, guest speakers, and other channels of club communication.
- The Vice President can be deputized to act on behalf of the President in case of absence. Additionally, they will assist the President in their duties, support the onboarding of club members, and coordinate the distribution of snacks.

ARTICLE VII. MANDATES

This constitution may be amended only through the following procedures:

- Approval by the Executive Board.
- Passage by majority active member vote.
